

the Impatient Blogger

Saturday, September 27, 2008

Saturday TastyLinks™!

Snapshots from the life of a woman of substance and the self proclaimed Bead Queen of the Universe™. Add a dash of humor, a smattering of contemplation with copious amounts of irony. Promoting Super Girlie Good Power throughout the galaxy.

 If you enjoy my blog then SUBSCRIBE in a Reader!

shameless self promotion

slide ★ Make Your Own ★ View All Images

- Click here to visit my website!
- Buy books, see lifetime of bad hair! ~
Visit me at MySpace!

they like me, they really, really like me!

Thoughtful Blogger Award

Greetings Grublets!

I'm sneaking this post in early because I have an all nighter at QVC. I intend to come home and crawl into bed. This gal needs eight hours or she's toast. If you ever want to see video footage of me in action on the Q, just go to the Suspicion Marcasite section and click on items with Video. Have a craftacular weekend and I'll be back to spew forth about whatever bee has crawled up my arse on Monday. Huzzah!

I got an email last week from the great team at Kamibashi!

. We agreed to do a book/product exchange. If you've read my second book, you may recall a Zombie Boy keychain project made with one of their String Doll Gang dolls from Thailand. If you've been a blog reader for a while you may recall Zombie Boy was stolen at Book Expo America two years ago, but I replaced him. I heart Kamibashi products and their fair trade initiative. Isn't free trade if it isn't fair trade. They have some new lines that are really rockin'. Thanks so much for our new dolls! We love them! Some French Guy and his tiny baguette is making me laugh as I type this!

