HERE ARE A FEW HOLIDAY GIFT IDEAS FOR THE TEENS AND TWEENS ON YOUR SHOPPING LIST:

It's really not that difficult buying holiday gifts for kids and adults. But buying for teens and tweens is a whole lot trickier since they're not really kids . . . but not adults either. --With that in mind, here are nine holiday gift ideas for the teens and tweens on your shopping list this year:

#1.) Miley Cyrus Fashion Wear: MILEY CYRUS and fashion designer MAX AZRIA teamed up to create a stylish, affordable fashion line for teens. It's available at . . . where else . . . Wal-Mart. T-shirts start at just $3.

#2.) Clue: Secrets and Spies Board Game: The latest version of the classic board game requires your kid to send and receive text messages in order to solve the crime. It costs $25.

#3.) Case Logic Laptop Sleeve: This is a "stylish" carrying case that allows your teen to safely transport their laptop. It costs $25.

#4.) The String Doll Gang: These are 2-inch dolls that are made out of string . . . and, presumably, there's a whole gang of them that you can buy at $10 apiece.

#5.) Ucreate Music: This is a mixing soundboard that allows your kids to create and remix their own songs. It costs $40.

#6.) Mindflex: For your slightly nerdier children . . . this is a game from Mattel where the object is to move a ball through an obstacle course using only the POWER OF YOUR MIND. Seriously. It sells for $159.

#7.) I'm Not Bored Anymore Art Jar: As the name suggests, this is a jar that's filled with arts-and-crafts supplies like scissors, pipe cleaners, popsicle sticks, etc. It sells for $29.

#8.) Flip Mino Camcorder: This is a pocket-sized video camera that can hold up to 60 minutes of footage. And it'll only run you $179.

#9.) Berry Stone Necklace: This is a "stylish" necklace with gem-shaped beads. Old Navy is selling them for $12.50 a pop. (Holidash)
